

Our Mission: The mission of The EyeCare Foundation is to serve as a world-class resource for eye cancer and macular degeneration patients and their families.

Research: Guided by our Scientific Advisory Committee, researchers at The EyeCare Foundation focus their efforts on improved treatments and surgical innovations. Every year we publish multiple journal articles, case studies and papers.

Patient Education and Support: The Eye Cancer Network, www.eyecancer.com, and The Macular Degeneration Network, www.macular-degeneration.org, offer the most up-to-date medical information for patients, their families and physicians. Each site also hosts a popular support group to address their emotional needs.

“ I spent the first couple of months after my husband’s diagnosis soaking up all the information I could find. I have used The EyeCare Foundation supported www.eyecancer.com not only for emotional support but for information and will continue to seek both in the future.”

—Susan, TX

“ It will soon be 5 years since I had my treatment, and I can still recall how good it felt to find this educational and support site and to have so many people reach out and respond to my e-mails. Since I had never heard of this type of cancer before being diagnosed, it felt comforting to know there were others dealing with what I was.”

—Joyce, WI

“ I appreciate all who have posted on The EyeCare Foundation supported Eye Cancer Network site throughout the years. I am so grateful for this site. I am coming up on 6 years of being cancer free!”

—Jen

“ I live in Boston, but I am also proud to call www.eyecancer.com (supported by The EyeCare Foundation) home and all of you—family.”

—Melanie, MA

“ My mother was diagnosed with macular degeneration last year. The Macular Degeneration Network has been instrumental in helping my family better understand the disease and what she is going through.”

—Jon, IL
